

Make it Simple

©2006 Mark Lemaire

Can we make it simple, when it's complicated
Make it simple when it's overstated
The more we explain the less likely it's true
Can we make it simple?

A three word sentence like "I love you."
Is easy to say, but it's hard to do
When we're strangled and tangled in words
Can we make it simple?

I'm trying to sleep but I can't let go
For just five minutes can I leave myself alone?
My thoughts are circles, and I can't move on can't I write a simple three note symphony that anyone can play

An easy answer to take this all away
But I can't leave and I can't pray and I can't make it simple

And then the storm passes, and blows away the words
The sun rises on a quieter world
Talking-- whatever I'm trying to say
Got to find a silent way

A three word sentence like: "I love you"
Means more after all we've been through
When words just take me away from you

We've got to say it
We've got to keep it
We've got to make it simple.
